Createspace, United States, 2010. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Stephanie Fulgione (illustrator). 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.From the film, National Treasure: There are 20 million books in the Library of Congress, and they all say the same thing: Listen to Riley! In college I was Editor of the literary magazine and received a national award for young writers. I m also a classically trained musician, Concertmaster in high school, all-State, and at my university. After a time in popular music I returned to my roots. My current project is original Renaissance-styles scores for ballet and dance. I have learned, painfully at times, that our minds alone can t guide us well. Joined by our hearts they may. Only where the sentiment of love and the power of reason intersect do we have the opportunity to appreciate the most profound truths of the human condition. For those of us in that minority whose lives are dedicated journeys toward the light, our progress can start slowly, like locomotives drawing heavy freight. Eventually we may pick up steam. With luck we ll reach destination. In my case, perhaps not yours, I liken the goal of my spiritual journey to a rustic country station. On the platform, the stern but good-hearted Stationmaster greets all who end their searching here with these words: Realize this: Wherever we travel, we are going to the same place. We give our voyages different names, depending on our faith or lack of faith. But they are never more than names. Welcome! You have been seeking clarity. And among us you will find it, at times mundane, at others diamond-like glimpses of the Divine. Great art may suggest this blessing in the mind, and perhaps the heart. But only through a...
